Roshan Pokhrel

Full Stack Developer

I'm a web developer living in Kathmandu, Nepal. I spend my days with my hands in many different areas of web development from back end programming (Django/Python) to front end engineering (HTML, CSS, and jQuery/JavaScript), digital accessibility, user experience and visual design. I'm extremely passionate about web development and design in all it's forms and helping small businesses and artisans build and improve their online presence.
